

Information on data processing under Art. 13 GDPR

The Max Planck Society for the Advancement of Science (MPG) takes the protection of your personal data very seriously. The following data protection information is intended to inform you about the most important aspects of data processing in the context of your registration for events held at the Max Planck Institute for Comparative and International Private Law.

1. Contact details of the data controller

The responsible party in the legal sense is the Max Planck Society for the Advancement of Science (MPG), Hofgartenstraße 8, D-80539 Munich, Phone: +49 (89) 2108-0.

2. Contact details of the data protection officer

The data protection officer of the responsible party is Heidi Schuster, Hofgartenstraße 8, D-80539 Munich, phone: +49 (89) 2108-1554, e-mail: datenschutz@mpg.de.

3. Purpose and legal basis of data processing

The legal basis for data processing is Art. 6, para. 1, lit. a GDPR

The personal data you provide will be stored and collected for the purpose of sending event invitations and organising events. Submission of your data serves as your consent to the storing and processing of this data for the above-mentioned purposes.

In addition, picture and video recordings of the events will be stored and collected for the purpose of public relations. The image material will be processed, stored and archived so as to build up an image archive that documents the history of the Institute.

4. Recipients or categories of recipients

The Max Planck Institute for Comparative and International Private Law has access to your data only to the extent necessary for the internal allocation of tasks. The staff of the event team and the public relations department have access to the data.

Lists of participants may be made available at the events.

These lists of participants are not published elsewhere and can be viewed only by the participants of the respective event. They list the participants' surnames and first names as well as their institution/company. In addition, photographs and video recordings may be made for event reports. These recordings are published on the Institute's website and in the Institute's activity report and are used for public relation purposes.

5. Data transmission

If you submit your data via a registration portal of the Max Planck Society, the administration and storage of your personal data is carried out within the framework of commissioned data processing on systems of the Gesellschaft für wissenschaftliche Datenverarbeitung mbH Göttingen - the GWDG is a cooperative institution of the Georg August University of Göttingen and the Max Planck Society.

The data will not be passed on to other third parties.

6. Storage period

The data you have provided upon registering for the event will be deleted as soon as it is no longer required for the purpose of its processing and there are no longer any legal retention periods. The image material is stored in an image archive to document the history of the Institute.

Your personal data will be stored until your consent is revoked or you object to the processing.

7. Revocation

In accordance with Art. 7, para. 3 GDPR, you have the option to withdraw your consent at any time and may object to the processing and storage of your personal data.

If you do not wish to receive any further invitations to events of the Max Planck Institute for Comparative and International Private Law or wish to object to the use of event images, you can unsubscribe at any time by sending an e-mail to veranstaltungen@mpipriv.de.

8. Data subjects' rights

As a data subject whose personal data is collected in the context of the above-described purpose, you have the right to information regarding the data stored about you by the MPG, the right to demand the correction of data in the event of inaccuracy or the deletion of data in the event of unauthorised data storage, and the right to data portability. You also have the right to lodge a complaint with the supervisory authority. For the Max Planck Society, this is the Bavarian State Office for Data Protection Supervision, Post Office Box 606, 91511 Ansbach.
